

To whom it may concern,

I am a candidate for becoming a lawyer in Switzerland. I am very impressed of the fact that in the constitution of Rajneeshpuram it is laid down that there will be no prison. The experiences there up to now show that no prison is needed, because no crimes are committed.

I know Bhagwan Shree Rajneesh through his books, tapes, video and personal contact during Satsang, a silent heart to heart communion. His teachings and his work are of great help for me to get more and more conscious about myself and the culture I am living in. The law is always a part and a mirror of a culture. So Bhagwan's teachings are of great help for a lot of legal problems. For example the expansion of consciousness of the people can help to avoid the necessity of creating more and more laws until every survey is impossible. This problem is one of the main problems of jurisprudence. Bhagwan's teachings show a way to avoid it because conscious people can solve their problems by their own and do not need a law for everything.

Experiments with prisoners doing Bhagwan's dynamic meditation showed that the level of aggression in the prison could be reduced efficiently.

Bhagwan Shree Rajneesh is a very important religious teacher and spiritual leader. His teachings are a great help to bring new and fertilizing aspects even into jurisprudence.

Sincerely

Sw. Anand Chaitanya
Hp. Kinoller
cand. iur.