TO WHOM IT MAY CONCERN

For almost thirty years now, I have been working as a management educator, author and consultant, assisting organisations and professionals interested in balanced growth.

In the whole process of growth, human growth, I noted that Sri Rajneesh has made a very significant contribution. As a national asset, I have like many others, felt about his unique contribution. When he chose to settle in another country that is probably more receptive to his contribution, I felt a lot concerned.

Such men are not found in any society generally and I do wish that he is understood, recognised and availed of by the well-meaning many in good time.
