

To Whom It May Concern:

I have a background in liberal arts and commercial art, and I have spent the last fifteen years professionally as a college textbook designer and manager, for three major Boston publishers.

During these years, my interest in the philosophical and psychological aspects of life led me to do a lot of reading (in these areas). About three years ago a friend introduced me to one of Bhagwan Shree Rajneesh's books, THIS IS IT. I couldn't believe how he approached so many areas with such understanding--it just pulled everything together for me!

Since then, after books, tapes, and visits to Rajneeshpuram, I feel that Bhagwan is one of the most profound human beings of our day. I am most struck by his compassion and the value he places on individual integrity. His silence to me reflects so much of his love, and it is awesome.

I am so thankful a man like this exists; fortunate to have him here in my lifetime. I know many feel the same way, and more will discover what he has to offer, if they will stop to look.
