To whom it may concern

Since various Years, I am Professor of sociology at German universities: Hamburg first, now Giessen / West Germany. My special field is sociology of underdevelopment, social and urban planning. I published a lot of books, articles and papers, and i am traveling every year to various countries, especially in Asia and Latin America for giving lectures at universities and for making field research.

Since many years I am also studying and researching philosophy and religions. In this way I got to know of the writings of Bhagwan Shree Rajnesh and I was very interested to become more acquainted with his philosophy and methods of cognition. So I studied important works of him und about him, an I am convinced that his philosophy attributes in a great and important dimension to the explanation of world process and to the methods of survival in freedom, as personal as collective, and in peace.

All over the world Bhagwan is known as a person of extraordinary qualities and abilities - as philosopher, as analyst of social and political processes and, most of all, as philosophic and religious teacher.
