To whom it may concern,

this letter is in reference to the Bhagwan Shree Rajneesh's application for permanent residence in this country.

First thing to be understood is I, personally, am not a person of exceptional ability. Second, is I never had problems with being overweight so I never dieted, I was so underminded that big guys kicked sand in my face I never took a speed reading course and the best scotch whisky I ever drank had no label on the bottle. Testimonies as you see, were never my thing.

Not am I a born again christian. There has been a dramatic, remarkable, miraculous transformation in my life. I have been a disciple of Bhagwan over five years now and in many ways I am the same as ever. What has changed for me is quite subtle and feels very deep. With Bhagwan's incredibly clear understanding of people's psychology, his compassion in exposing individual quirks, the wit in his delivery and the sheer genius to create this communal circus where everyone psychologically mirrors each other and spiritually supports each other.

Now that he is in silence it makes it that much clearer. The best teaching is by example. He is what he teaches. He is a friend. He is a reminder.

With much love
