To whom it may concern,

I'm writing this letter not as a person who has a degree in any field particular but as a person who wants to let the world know that Bhagwan is a religious teacher and spiritual leader, a very extraordinary one indeed.

I came to know Bhagwan four years ago and was living with Him in India for a year. His Being is of such an indescribable subtlety and beauty, so completely fulfilling and showering that I can say He just completely changed my life.

July '82 was my first time to visit Him here at Rajneeshpuraam during the First Annual World Celebration. Finding Him in silence made the connection between Him and me deeper and more beautiful than ever before. It is such a precious opportunity to relate to Him without words interfering. Just sitting at His feet is giving me the Realisation of who I am and connects me with my inner being we're all looking for.

In December last year I came back to celebrate His birthday with Him at Rajneeshpuram. His silence has become more sacred, very intimate. It's this silence that tunes us and connects us with our inner beings and the energy that's hiding inside.

I really do feel very sad about people who doubt His Being, because He is.
