To whom it may concern

I stay at Rajneeshpuram as a visitor and the days here in the commune of Bhagwan Shree Rajneesh are the most outstanding time I experience in my spiritual growth. May his words - in books to read or in tapes to listen to - been steps on a ladder to higher consciousness, so in his profound silence, his presence here a jump from one plane to another for me. Sitting at his feet at celebration days or seeing him driving by every day he shows me day after day how to live life in deep meditation, in love for one another and in inner and outer wealth. Seeing him combining science, arts and religion in perfect harmony, I experience gratefully the same harmony rising in myself. Through silent communion in deep meditation during one of the celebration days I felt that my master guided me to the very center of my being, where this harmony already existed from my very beginning, I only had to discover it again. I know that I need his presence to be able to go back to this source, whenever I want to. Beginning from this very day on, I could see, that under the guidance of Bhagavan, everything which is happening here is enriched by a spiritual quality. In farming, in cooking, in constructing buildings I can see the divine.

My feeling of gratitude is immense for this man, my master. He showed me so much, he makes my life richer every day through his sheer presence, he makes me able to experience other dimensions of my spirituality.

May I always be able to sit to his feet and drink from his presence.

Buddham sharanam gacchami.

I go to the feet of the awakened one.

Sangam sharanam gacchami.

I go to the feet of the commune of the awakened one.

Dhammam sharanam gacchami.

I go to the feet of the ultimate truth of the awakened one.
