TO WHOM IT MAY CONCERN :

Not every contact with Bhagwan is even blissful but when he is passing with the car - and I'm open and totally in that moment, then it happens - it's difficult to describe it (what does it mean for you - blissful?) - it has something to do with an inner vibration, out of the belly - some call it energy! His presence is really touching. Once, just before passing, I was listening to a friend who was a little bit off, down. As a physiotherapist I was trying to move him a little upwards, specially with words - then, Bhagwan was coming, silence: His presence, His looking, His love: my interfering to my friend looks ridiculous, After Bhagwan, I simply hug him.

Unbelievable what happens here in Rajneeshpuram - the surrender. I see in worshipping (as they call it here), it can't be only coincidental. It never happens as it happens here, grace of the presence of a living Master!
