

To whom it may concern

I am in Rajneeshpuram since three weeks and it is very difficult for me to describe with words how important Bhagawan's presence is for me. It is so beautiful to see him every day, to see him pass me by with his Rolls Royce, to see his smile, that goes deep in my heart. There is something, that really needs no words, that is between him and his disciples. Always when I see him it wakes me up, and I can feel where I am, he is the best teacher. And there comes so much love from him, you must visit this place, you have to look into the faces of his disciples, there you can find what he gives us now and it is so much more than words can explain. I am very thankful that Bhagwan has created this place, this town and that he is still here, lives with us, a spring of energy. It makes me happy and alive and all here can't happen without him. I can't understand that you don't accept him as a religious teacher, so many ~~thousands~~ thousand of thousand disciple came to the festival, from all over the world, all his lovers, came to see him and celebrate with him, and there is no need to talk to us, because everything is already said, and is written into books and spoken on tapes. It is important for me that he stay here, in Rajneeshpuram, that he lives here n to us, and this is totally enough, it really needs no words.

with love
