

Pawan Prem Sudheer
Stad Rajneesh,
Holland.

Heerde august 3, 1983

To whom it may concern,

I want to state that I'm a Rajneeshi, a disciple of Bhagwan Shree Rajneesh, and I've been a Rajneeshi for the past 6 years.

I'm not a believer or a follower of any doctrine or dogma, but a disciple, which means I've seen my inner discipline become apparent and grow. The presence of Bhagwan, my master, has been of unthinkable help and support in this process of unlearning and unconditioning.

I have lived in the commune in Poona, India, for almost two years and now I'm living in a small commune in Heerde, Holland. Without a "Buddhafiield" real growth is not possible, because for real growth one has to put down all the garments that society has put on. Layers and layers of lies and conditionings - however necessary for society as it is - are a burden for a growing individual, for a discipline of love and truth. Only in a "Buddhafiield" can one get rid of these and once again be unconditionally open and vulnerable and loving.

Love is one thing I had heard and talked about all my life, but never met so deep and overwhelming, so clean and unconditionally as with Bhagwan. His love touched the deepest core of my being, and called forth the love hidden there. It needs a commune, and Bhagwan's presence to be able to let it come out and flower.

Once it comes out life becomes a celebration, a festival. Also the opposite is true in a festival with Bhagwan, love dares to come out and start flowering. I have been in Rajneeshpuram twice, in 1982 and 1983 and both times I experienced a great surge of love and understanding happen inside me.

When I came back to Holland it started expanding and sharing and making life here a festival too, a festival of love, bliss and truth, and that we definitely need here in a very serious and depressed Holland.

With love and his blessings, Indheer.
